A Noun's the name of anything, As school, or garden, hoop or swing

An Adjective describes a Noun, As great, small, pretty, white or brown

In place of Nouns the Pronouns stand, As he or she, your arm, my hand

Veros tell of something to be done-To read, count, laugh, sing, jump or run

How things are done, the Adverbs tell, As slowly, quickly, ill or well.

Conjunctions join the words together, As men and women, wind or weather

The Proposition stands before A Noun, as in or through a door

The Interjection shows surprise, As "oh! how pretty"—"ah! how wise

A SAD FACT

While physical perfection and beauty is desired, and is a duty which should not be ignored, jet how sad is the fact that in the United States more than 200,000 cripples and deformed persons exist, while many thousands more are becoming so. Livery parent is solicitous about the mental culture of children, but ignores, seemingly, physical development. Deformity is too often neglected, or only treated by the family physician, who has not the facilities, often neglected, or only treated by the lamily physician, who has not the facilities, and to linally end in a sad lasting deformity is the result—bending off for mechanical appliances or neglect—is vandalism. When we stop to think of the wonderful, intricate, and complicated mechanical structure of the body, can we doubt for a moment the necessity for an institution for its repairs, where supports, appliances. its repairs, where supports, appliances, and apparatus can be constructed and applied to meet the ever-varying necessities pired to meet the ever-varying necessities For this purpose the National Surgical Institute, with its four great divisions, was founded, viz at Philadelphia, Indianapolis, San Francisco, and Arlanta, Ga. In the last twenty years it has curee over forty thousand diseased and deformed people It has expended over $100,000 in manufacturing and perfections appliances for this turing and perfecting appliances for this purpose. It exhibited at the Centennal more than five times as many appliances, and better ones, than all the nations of the earth combined, and received not only the highest medal and diploma, but the great est praise from the Surgeon-Generals and Commissioners of other nations. Scotching Malarva. It is a fact widely and amply attested that where the powerful and pernicious drug, quinine, and other mineral por sons, administered as remedics for fe ver and ague and bilious remittents, fail to yield more than temporary rehef to the sufferci, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters scotches those tremendous epi lemies most thoroughly, and by strengthening the system and regulating its functions, protects it against malare low, And to keep the eyes still lifted. For the sweet blue sky will soon peep al attacks. No resident of a locality where the above maladics prevail, or where they are hable to break out in consequence of the poisoning of the at mosphere by noxious exhalations, should fail to take practical cognizance of the above important truth, and by a timely through,
